Books designed to make the world of words and imagination accessible to children with specific learning difficulties

Dear Hayley

I am pleased to announce the launch of my book, My Dog Nick. This book is the first of a new series of creative and interactive learning books aimed at inspiring young children with dyslexia to read and write.

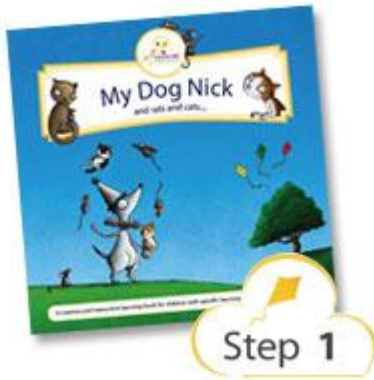

These books have been developed to be used by specialists, classroom teachers, learning support staff, as well as by parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and carers at home – in fact anyone who wants to help children engage with the written word.

If you would like more information, please contact me.

Sincerely
